

Joseph Stalin

By: Breanna Grove

What Happened?

Stalin, the leader of the soviet union set in motion events designed to cause famine in Ukraine to destroy people who were going and rebelling against his rule.

who: Joseph Stalin was the one responsible

When: 1932-1933

Where: Ukraine

Economic Factors to the Genocide.

This Genocide had Political Factors because when Stalin took control he seized all person farms, so anything being grown could be money made for him and when people rebelled and refused that's when he started to starve them.

Geographic Factor of Genocide.

This Genocide had Geographic Factors because Ukraine has very fertile soil and is great for farming and when Stalin wanted to control all of the farming and the people rebelled then Geography played a role in that because of the soil and Geographical Placement making farming its money hole.

Group Responsible

The person Responsible was Joseph Stalin and “ his people” or whoever was the people working for him and enforcing his rulings.

Motives

MOTIVES

Stalin's motives were simply to make money. He used violence to make a point when people started to rebel. He wanted to make as much money as possible on the farming that he did what it took, that was his motive. Money$

People Victimized

VICTIMIZED

The people targeted were the people that were standing in the way of Stalin making money. Those were the people residing in Ukraine and the People rebelling.

Survival Tactics

Survival

People tried to migrate towards other cities in the direction as Kiev.

If they didn't leave they survived by following orders and becoming slaves. If you were suspected of plotting a revolt you were arrested and either shot or deported to a prison camp.

Death Toll/Casualties

7 Million people died and dropped dead of starvation. And anybody not following Stalin's orders.

Response of other countries/Preventable

None of the Neighboring countries interveined and it was not preventable by other countries.

Effects on Perpetrator and victims

Stalin lived on for 20 years after the starvation ended in 1933. He died in 1953.

Victims and families took a while to get back up on their feet.

Present day Ukraine

Today the Ukraine population continues to fall and their economy is in a lot of debt. They also have a very high rate of abandoned kids because parents fell into social problems after they were born.

Classification

Stalin took the people that were cooperating with him and the people who were not and separated them and starved one group and turned the other ones into slaves.

Symbolization

Dehumanization

Stalin took the cooperative citizens and let them be slaves and treated them as slaves and “dehumanized” them and took them down to a lower standard.

Organization

Polarization

Preparation

There really was no preparation. The issue hit him when he became the leader and he called the shots from there by ear and just went with it.

Extermination

Stalin starved and shot anybody that was rebelling against him and this was his way of exterminating the people standing in the way of him and his money and cash crops.

Denial

Joseph Stalin used denial by denying the citizens of Ukraine their independence and denying the effort of handling the problem a better way.
